The “War on Drugs” is a War on Pain Patients. Doctors who have done nothing wrong are being investigated by the FDA and raided by the DEA. Clinics are being shut down and doctors arrested. Patients in desperate need of medical care are being turned away. Pharmacies refuse to fill legitimate prescriptions and blacklist doctors and patients without regard to any facts. These patients are not drug addicts – they are people with real, extremely painful medical conditions that require treatment.

April 23-30, 2017 is Pain Patients Advocacy week. Around the country people are organizing to fight back against the War on Pain Patients. Pain Patients Radio Day is hosted by the Pain Resistance Network as part of this effort.
